

27th UCI Mountain Bike World Cup for Mont-Sainte-Anne

Beaupré, August 2nd 2017 – From August 4 to 6, the Mont-Sainte-Anne will host for the 27th time in its history the downhill and cross-country UCI Mountain bike World Cup at the Vélirium. Québec City citizens and visitors will once again have the opportunity to see the top cyclists of these disciplines in action, athletes from all over the globe.

As a mountain biking cradle in the Quebec province, Mont-Sainte-Anne has gained notoriety in the area by hosting the event that has become a must for the elite of this sport. It has enabled the resort to quickly position itself on the international scene. Mont-Sainte-Anne is also at the dawn of hosting its third World Championships in 2019, after 1998 and 2010. By then, the resort's team is mobilizing to help the GesteV organization make the event a great success, whether it's by machinery loan or support in the site preparation.

An opportunity to (re)discover the mountain

This is an incredible occasion to meet high-level athletes, as well as to enjoy the trails of Mont-Sainte-Anne or to rediscover the mountain in a new light. "Every year, visitors are astonished to be so close to the action. I personally invite people to come and enjoy this unique event, and thereby to practice an outdoor and physical activity. Having our facilities encourage and enable the population to be active and maintain a healthy lifestyle is part of our mission at Mont-Sainte-Anne", mentions Daniel Rochon, Vice President and Director at Mont-Sainte-Anne.

Rent a bike

The athletes will most surely inspire the visitors, and the competitions will make them want to ride. It's a perfect time to try it out. A day mountain biking requires proper equipment and the Sports Alpins boutique and rental shop, located directly at the base of the mountain, offers clothing, accessories, snacks, sandwiches and refreshments, as well as Scott bikes rentals for downhill and cross-country. All rentals include the access to trails (and to lift for downhill). For more information or to rent, call 418.827.4561.
