

The best snow conditions for the Spring break!

Beaupré, February 27th, 2017 – It seems like Mother Nature is playing favorites again with the Quebec region! with over 4 meters of snow received since the start of the season, it is definitely the best destination to ski over the upcoming spring break. From March 4th to 12th, Mont-Sainte-Anne and Stoneham Mountain Resort have many exciting activities planned for families, in addition to the amazing snow conditions.

Free activities for everyone!

At Mont-Sainte-Anne, you will find an ice ring, arts and crafts sessions, fun characters on the slopes, a candy bar at the summit and our traditional on-mountain sugar shak ($). At Stoneham, the Canadian Forces will offer fun winter survival sessions, and the children will love the arts and crafts sessions, make-up artists and inflatable playground! The complete schedules can be found on our websites.

The author of the « Juliette » book series at Stoneham

Rose-Lyne Brassat will be at Stoneham on March 5th, as she just released her last book. She will sign books from 11am to 2pm, and will give away 3 duos of her two last books: Juliette à Rome and Juliette à Québec.

Family Sundays: a great day with great savings

Every Sunday, families can enjoy this great promotion to spend quality time at the mountain. This offer includes the ski tickets, equipment rental and private lesson for children and parents. It is a great way to discover this sport or get back to it!

Ski lessons and free bunny hill

The ski lessons offered at the TELUS Snow Schools of Mont-Sainte-Anne and Stoneham will help children develop important technical skills on the snow over Spring break. And don't forget: the bunny hill is always free!
